Full Review This site is fun and amazing and free. You can take any photo you find on your computer(or on the web) and easily upload, cut and paste into MushyGushy e-cards. Some of the cards are very funny. Most of them let you place two heads into the animation, so you can really have "fun" with friends and family. Like any e-mail delivered service, you want to let your receiver know to check their quarantine folder in case they didn't get it. I find the site very easy to navigate through. The cute animated tutorial they provide is very helpful. Cutting the heads takes a little bit of work at first, but it's well worth it. By my third head, I was a pro. You can go back and edit heads if you want to make them cleaner down the road. The skin tone matching feature works well. I have a friend from Spain who is darker in complexion. I was able to match his skin tone pretty closely. I agree that this will make a strong social impact for people of color. I did not try the Google feature which costs $.99, but it looks like a fun way to deliver the e-card. I just used the standard e-mail delivery which worked fine. I have sent out about ten of these Gushygrams and received a terrific reaction from each person I sent to. Everybody certainly gets a kick out of seeing themselves in the animations. To join, they only require my e-mail address and a password. There are no pop-up ads which is nice. Recommended: Yes
